

Between Worlds: Ben Pring Talks Jobs of the Future with Mike Walsh

Excerpts from Between Worlds:

"So finally some good news: according to Cognizant's Jobs of the Future index, since early 2017, the index's jobs of the future have been growing faster than all jobs. I strongly believe that the Algorithmic Age will create as many interesting jobs as it destroys, and so was fascinated to catch up with Ben Pring, who co-founded and leads Cognizant's Center for the Future of Work. We spoke about why the jobs of the future will those that incorporate the qualities of coaching, caring and connecting - and what ultimately this means for leaders as they start to think about reimagining their organizations for the 21st century."
