Cognizant’s Brian Williams Named a Top 50 Healthcare Consultant

Cognizant’s Brian Williams, Global Life Sciences Consulting Leader, has been named to The Consulting Report’s list of Top 50 Healthcare Consultants.

Those named to The Top 50 Healthcare Consultants list are the individuals who advise the largest and fastest-growing healthcare and life sciences companies across the globe. Through their deep domain expertise, they provide strategic insight to management teams so they may better guide and grow their organizations, optimize operational efficiency, leverage the latest in technology, and launch new products and services, among other activities.

Awardees were nominated and selected based on their demonstrated career commitment to the healthcare industry and their ability to deliver consistent best-in-class consulting services. They anticipate the needs of their clients, in turn helping them achieve key milestones and objectives, and in parallel advancing the overall healthcare industry at large.

With more than three decades of experience, Brian leads Cognizant’s Life Sciences consulting team and is the strategy leader for Cognizant’s Life Sciences business, one of Cognizant’s fastest growing businesses. Prior to joining Cognizant, Brian spent nearly a decade with PwC where he was a founding member of its “New Entrants” practice that identified and defined the transformation in care access and delivery enabled by ubiquitous technology and clinical and commercial data.

“It’s a great honor to be recognized for this award,” said Brian. “Cognizant’s Life Sciences practice is focused on integrating digital transformation into business strategies that improve patient outcomes and deliver speed to market while navigating regulatory demands. I am proud to be a part of this team whose innovate solutions are having a significant impact within the industry.”
