Cognizant and Microsoft Collaborate to Bring Microsoft Cloud-based Technology Solutions to the Healthcare Market

Microsoft Cloud for Healthcare and Cognizant's TriZetto healthcare products aim to enhance transparency for consumers and increase interoperability for providers and payers

TEANECK, N.J., April 6, 2023 /PRNewswire/ -- Cognizant (NASDAQ: CTSH) today announced an expansion of their long-standing healthcare collaboration with Microsoft, to give healthcare payers and providers easy access to cutting-edge technology solutions, streamlined claims management, and improved interoperability to optimize business operations and deliver better patient and member experiences.

As part of the expansion, Cognizant and Microsoft will work together to build an integration roadmap between Cognizant's TriZetto healthcare products with Microsoft Cloud for Healthcare. The companies will also collaborate to develop and run Cognizant's current and future healthcare SaaS solutions on Microsoft Azure, migrate new and existing clients from on premises environments to streamlined functions managed on the Microsoft Cloud, and support future technologies designed to deliver new insights for payers, providers, and consumers.

A collaboration with benefits for payers, providers, and consumers

Recognized as a market leader in healthcare cloud-based administration Cognizant collaborates with Microsoft on a variety of healthcare provider and payer solutions, including interoperability and cost estimation suites in a SaaS environment. This collaborative effort provides greater transparency for consumers who can more readily access historical healthcare data, review procedure costs for services, and compare pricing across providers to make informed healthcare decisions.

"Delivering leading technology to our healthcare clients is critical in enabling payers and providers to focus more time on supporting quality of care for beneficiaries," said Surya Gummadi, EVP and President, Cognizant Americas. "Through our strategic partnership with Microsoft and building on our advanced TriZetto healthcare solutions, we are empowering clients to adapt to shifting market trends, regulatory changes, and operational demands.
