Cognizant's TriZetto® ClaimSphere® Receives 13th Consecutive HEDIS® Certification

Cognizant's Healthcare Quality Engine, TriZetto® ClaimSphere® QaaS® has received its 13th consecutive Healthcare Effectiveness Data and Information Set (HEDIS®) Certified Measure status from the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA). NCQA certification validates that ClaimSphere® QaaS® quality measures have passed the rigorous testing to support health plans for the HEDIS Measurement Year 2023 reporting season.

Cognizant is an NCQA certified vendor for Integrated Healthcare Association's Align. Measure. Perform (AMP) program used by organizations across California to drive meaningful changes that reduce costs and support better healthcare quality and outcomes.

"We're proud to receive the 13th year certification in a row for Cognizant's TriZetto® ClaimSphere®. This is a testament to our ongoing commitment to our customers that helping them meet compliance regulations, achieve patient safety standards, and be future-ready remains a top priority," said Surya Gummadi, Cognizant's SVP of Global Health Sciences and SVP, Americas. "Cognizant continues to increase its digital capabilities to support our customers' success in value-based care, including the advancement and offering of our HL7 FHIR® enabled Digital Quality Measures (dQM), Electronic Clinical Data Systems (ECDS), Intelligent Process Automation (IPA) along with Business Intelligence (BI) and Machine Learning (ML) capabilities."

TriZetto® ClaimSphere® Consulting Services offers implementation and HEDIS Service bureau support with consultants specialized in HEDIS, data analytics and operations that enable clients to have a seamless HEDIS submission and execute Quality improvement initiatives. Consulting Services offers accelerators such as Facets and QNXT pre-built interfaces for faster time to market and rate reconciliation services for a seamless vendor transition.
