

Cognizant Named a Leader in the 2023 ISG Provider Lens™ Workday Ecosystem Study

Cognizant has been identified as a Leader in the 2023 ISG Provider Lens™ Workday Ecosystem study in both Europe and the U.S. This marks the second consecutive year that Cognizant has received the recognition in both regions, reinforcing its excellence in all facets of the Workday Ecosystem.

This is also the first analyst report in which Collaborative Solutions, a Cognizant company and leading global finance and HR transformation consultancy, appears under the Cognizant banner, underscoring Cognizant's commitment to innovation and growth in the Workday domain and highlighting its comprehensive expertise and capabilities in the space.

The ISG Provider Lens™ Quadrant Study is recognized for its rigorous evaluation of service providers across various categories, including evaluating the partner network's service maturity, technical competency and the depth and breadth of its understanding of the service lifecycle on the Workday platform, in addition to unique differentiators such as economic stability and market position.

Cognizant's Workday practice has helped many Fortune 500 companies and large and midsized organizations transform their businesses. The Workday practice was formed in 2020 through Cognizant's acquisition of Collaborative Solutions. Its Workday Advisory Services group, which is part of the Workday practice, includes strategy, organizational change and training, finance, HR and student technology deployment. In 2023, Cognizant has continued to grow its European Workday practice and has recently expanded outside of the U.K. and Ireland into new markets such as Continental Europe.
